THE PET QUARRY. . .

I don't have a pet rock, some-e what the rage these days of high promotional costs of petfoods.

No one feeds tablescraps to house-pet dogs and cats anymore. The pet-food manufacturers even have a brand that "tastes like tablescraps" only you're not supposed to tell your dog.

So the cost of traditional pets is up. I am not sure about canaries, parakeets, cobras, billygoats and less common pets whose tastes run to birdseed, tincans and the nervous systems of people.

A rock has no appetite, of course. Nothing courses through a rock's veins except streaks of hemotite, bauxite, igneous intrusions or silicates of some forgotten geologic age.

A rock has no reason to go out at night, reach for a scratching post or chase after cars. A rock is pretty permanently or pretty ugly permanently, with or without a sand blasting job on the outside to smooth its surface to an owner's touch.

A rock has no reason. And it is lucky, supplying an absolute silence, a motionless loyalty, a dead weight, a promise of never leaving, never dying, never speaking out of turn. or meowing.

A pet rock also has made some guy in California a few million bucks in the past six months. He must have known in the beginning of petrockdom that people have run out of things to feed and spoil and clean litterboxes and cages for.

For a few bucks, a pet rock ends all that. It finds its way onto the mantle, the desk, the end table, the night stand, wherever a pet rock should stand, inert for its master.

It comes from the beaches or the gravel pit, the byway or the creek-bottom, the mountainside or the prairie. It is truly indigeonous, truly gritty, truly American in concept.

It is not rascally, playful or cuddly. A pet rock is a tribute to something for nothing.

Liberty Tree Ceremony Set On Library Grounds

A special tree planting ceremony will be held Tuesday at 10:30 a.m. at the Cameron Library grounds as an official American Bicentennial project.

The program will be sponsored by the Cameron Bicentennial Committee, Cameron Arts and Service League, the Texas Forest Service, and the Texas Forestry Association.

A highlight of the ceremonv will be the dedication and planting of a "Liberty Tree" with School Supt. Buddy Dulin as master of ceremonies and Rev. James Lafferty of Rockdale as guest speaker.

The Liberty Tree is a "Tejas" variety pecan. Pecan is the state tree of Texas, and "Tejas" (the Spanish word for Texas) is a new variety which grows well throughout the state and produces abundant shade and tasty fruit.

The Bicentennial pecan is called a Liberty Tree after the famous elm in colonial Boston under which the first act of public resistance occurred in 1765--the hanging in effigy of a newly-appointed stamp tax officer. This tree was a symbol of resistance to British rule, and many towns planted or dedicated their own Liberty Trees.

Participating in the event will be the Yoe High School band, vocalist Sharon McCullin, and Rev. Darryl Proffit. The public is invited to attend. Refreshments will be served in the library following the ceremony.

License Plate Tabs Go On Sale Monday

Automobile registration for 1976 will begin Monday with a new format to be followed in getting "tags" for the family bus.

Instead of replacing the metal tags which are now displayed on vehicles, red, white, and blue tabs--in keeping with the Bicentennial theme --will be issued for placement on the current tags.

The tabs, which are reflectiorized, will be affixed to the upper left hand corner of the current plate. The serial number on the tags is printed in red while the '76 is printed in white on a blue background.

The tabs will be available through the office of County Tax Assessor-Collector Valter White at the new tax office. White said to receive the tabs the vehicle owner should present the renewal notice received from the Highway Department at his office.

Those persons who have not received renewal notices may present registration and title papers to secure the tabs, White said.

The tabs are available by mail for $1 extra with the special mail-in portion of the renewal notices.

The only license tags which will be replaced for 1976 are for combination licenses and mobile home licenses.

Volks Collides With Truck; Driver Injured

An Abernathy man was seriously injured around 2 p.m. Saturday when his Volkswagen was in collision with a tractor-trailer truck at the intersection of Highways 36 and 79 at Milano.

DPS Trooper Milton Wright said Bert Rinson of Abernathy, driver of the Volks, was taken to Scott and White Hospital in Temple with serious injuries. Driver of the truck, Albert May of Shreveport, was not injured.

The truck turned over upon impact, directly across the highway, blocking traffic. Three wreckers were used to get the truck out of the road, which was blocked for several hours.

The Milano fire truck was called to protect against fire from the truck's ruptured fuel tanks and sand, was spread on the road.

In another accident late Saturday night at the Y south of Cameron, James Woolverton of Rockdale was treated and released for minor injuries after his car turned over.

Firemen Answer Calls

Cameron volunteer firemen were called to two grass fires on the Milano highway Saturday. Then early Sunday morning they went to the West Housing Units where a mattress was on fire.

City Sales Tax Receipts Grow

AUSTIN

Comptroller Bob Bullock released information this week showing how collections by Texas cities of the city sales tax -- which has always been one percent -- have skyrocketed in recent years.

Bullock released a list comparing each city's 1975 sales tax rebates with the rebates during the first full calendar year that the city collected the sales tax.

The list shows that Cameron's share of the tax refund has grown 77 percent, from a total collection of $49,404.05 the first calendar year to $87,297.19 in 1975.

Increases for some Milam area towns includes Rockdale with 80 per-Rosebud 75 percent, from $14,724.91 to $25,700.97; Lott, 206 percent from $10,660.95 to $32,618.77; and Hearne 86 percent, from $43,287.80 to $80,-407.08.

cent increase, from $43,946.77 to $79,282.32 in 1975; Rogers, 80 percent from $4,632.60 to $9,305.54;

Seven hundred and eighty cities showed increases ranging up to 1,539 percent. Only 30 cities showed a decline in rebates.

"It shows what we've known all along," Bullock said, "that the city sales tax has become a cornerstone of the City Hall budget."

While the Comptroller conceded some of the increase is due to inflation, he said "Nobody could read this story of mushrooming retail sales and conclude Texas has anything other than a prosperous business community."

144 Beef Producers Hear Experts At Cow-Calf Clinic

By Bill McCutchen
Milam Co. Ext. Agent

Area cattlemen heard some of the best in the business expound on topics such as which to keep and which to cull, what to look for in the cattle business in 1976, general ranch management techniques, livestock health, and marketing problems.

In Dr. Bill Pope's presentation he polled the audience as to the costs of keeping a cow for a year and most agreed that it would take about $200. With a $200 cost involved in keeping a cow, a 500 pound calf at weaning would have to bring 40¢ a pound to break even. This obviously means that few have broken even andmost have lost money over the past couple of years.

Dr. Pope expressed cautious optimism about the last half of 1976, indicating a little probable strength but he also pointed out all of the outside forces which affect the cattle market.

Dr. R. M. Titsworth of Cameron did his usual outstanding job of presenting the animal health portion of the program, and Leon Noack's buyers panel consisting of Clifford Angell, Maurice Harrell, and J. D. Sartwell Jr. was also well received by producers.

Alcoa Report Shows Net Income, Shipments Down For Last Year

Net income in 1975 for Aluminum Company of America was down some $109.8 million from income for 1974, according to a year-end report issued by the company's head office in Pittsburgh.

The company reports net income of $64.8 million in 1975, or $1.85 a common share, compared with net income of $174.6 million, or $5.18 a share in 1974.

Alcoa, which operates three plants in Texas at Rockdale, Marshall and Point Comfort, reported sales and operating revenues of $2.3 billion in 1975, compared with $2.7 billion in 1974. Income from operations was $54.0 million in 1975 and $164.1 million in 1974.

Shipments of aluminum products in 1975 totaled 1,340,000 tons, compared with 1,963,000 tons in 1974. Primary aluminum production in 1975 was 1,368,000 tons against 1,724,000 tons in 1974.

COMMENTING ON THE 1975 report, W. H. K. George, chairman of the board and chief executive officer, said, "The most significant single fact about 1975 for Alcoa was that the company's shipments of aluminum products dropped more than 30 percent below the 1974 level. The company's domestic primary aluminum operating rate, which averaged 101 percent of rated capacity in 1974, declined to the current rate of 74 percent and averaged 79.8 percent for the year 1975. Aluminum fabricating operations were at an even lower rate.

"The unprecedented decline in industry shipments reflected the combined effect of the low levels of economic activity in major markets coupled with high customer aluminum inventory levels that had to be worked down during 1975.

"Alcoa's 1975 results were depressed by large increases in the unit cost of virtually everything we buy. Interest costs increased substantially in 1975 with the addition of new borrowings at increased interest rates.

"Although some price increases were effected in 1975, the market generally was too weak to permit a level of prices fully justified by our cost increases.

"INVESTMENT TAX CREDITS -ned by the large capital expenditure program, coupled with an increase in the tax credit rate, materially increased income and was the principal cause of the negative provision for United States and foreign income taxes for 1975.

"At year-end, the company revised its method of accounting for translating foreign currency, as recommended by the Financial Accounting Standards Board. Under the new accounting method, net income for 1975 was increased by $5.3 million ($16 a share), the principal portion of which was in earnings of entities not consolidated. Net income for 1974 was increased by $1.5 million ($.04 a share) as restated.

"A highly significant positive factor for Alcoa in 1975 was the extraordinary effort by all employees. The productivity of Alcoa people in our fabricating operations -- measured in pounds shipped per hour worked --held steady despite the drastic decline in demand and operating levels. A recent definite upswing in tons ordered per day would seem to indicate that the large customer inventories had been worked down by year-end."

UnRed, White And Blue ...

The mayor of Midland last week gave the Department of Housing and Urban Development quid pro quo in a 5,000-word directive for a HUD parking space at Midland Airport.

It was tongue in cheek, of course, but it hit the bureaucratic apparatus right where it hurts: in the verbosity.

Mayor Ernest Angelo said it took the City of Midland eight months to get applications for HUD funds through channels of red tape.

After HUD approved such civic funding, HUD officials asked for a parking space at Midland Airport for a vehicle to be used by HUD field employee.

Mayor Angelo couldn't resist the opening: In no less than 5,000 words, he asked HUD to "submit three executed and 14 confirmed copies of this application."

The "request" asked HUD to submit a total description of the car to be parked, the wage scale and personnel attributes of any drivers or users of the car, safety, environmental, and even negative impact statements on the use of the vehicle while in Midland and West Texas.

It would have pleased the most prolific authors of governmental redtapemanship.

The Mayor's postscript noted the City of Midland would be pleased to dispense with the redtape and grant HUD a place to park a car.

"Three cheers" for the unRed, White, and Blue.

"Low Down" FROM THE Congressional Record

By JOE CRUMP

(A Column for Readers Who Haven't Time to Review the Congressional Record Daily)

BLASTS PIOUS STAND ON SALARY INCREASE-

Rep. Charles H. Wilson (Calif.) ". . . While I realize that it is against tradition for one Member of Congress to speak ill of another, I cannot in good conscience allow the hypocritical remarks of Representative Alphonzo Bell, of California to go unchallenged. . .

"The honorable gentleman who is a good friend of mine, has said that he is against a pay raise for Members of Congress, that he is against increased staff and travel allowances, and that he is against increased mailing privileges for Members. And he has said all of this in righteous tones, ringing of piety, and indignant in his concern for the taxpayers . . .

"I hope my honored colleague was not to chagrined to read UPI's disclosure that this great advocate of economy has himself voted for increases in staff pay and air travel allowances . . .

"Since coming to Congress in 1961, Congressman Bell has voted for every pay raise, when he has not been absent. I challenge him to show his record of when he has specifically voted against increases in salary for Members and staff. . .

"Frankly, I am embarrassed for the man. What the folks in California must think I can only guess. . .

"I voted in favor of a salary increase for Members that is indexed to the standard of living. I did this simply because my research shows that this is one of the most sensible ways of insuring that salaries for anyone -- be they industry workers or Congressmen -- keep up with the economy. A tied-in wage increase is becoming standard practice in many industries, and in Government. . .

"So this heroic figure, sends a personal check to the Treasury Department every month of the raise to which he says he is not entitled.

"I would be touched, as I am sure all of you would be, did we not know that our honored colleague is also a multimillionaire, in fact. He inherited great family wealth. While this, I am sure, does not make his act of refunding money any less beneficial to a grateful nation, it does go a long way to explaining how he can afford to do so. . ."

CRUMP'S GRASS ROOTS COMMENT

Cost - of - living increases in union contracts and automatic pay raises for congressmen is, of course, built - in inflation. Those on Social Security are expecting their cost-of-living increases as of July 1st; it's now the law.

IS BACON HAZARDOUS TO YOUR HEALTH?

Rep. Paul Findley (Ill.) ". . . I would like to share with my colleagues and article by USDA reviewing the use of nitratea and nitrites in pork products...This study should help to reduce the tendency toward panic . . ." (Excerpts follow):

Is Bacon Hazardous To Your Health?

There's a first-class flap about bacon use. There has been a rash of news stories claiming cured bacon contains a potent cancer-forming agent. USDA proposes to terminate the use of most nitrate in all meat curing processes. And they want to reduce the amount of nitrite used in meat curing.

So, the basic question is why are nitrates and nitrites used in meat curing? Nitrate combines with the pigment of the meat. It helps to form the characteristic color and flavor of cured meats.

It also prevents rancidity of meat during storage. But its most important value is in protecting a meat product from deadly botulism toxin if the meat is contaminated or abused.

So USDA has proposed to terminiate the use of nitrate in most products--including bacon.

Under certain conditions nitrite can combine with protein in the meat or other sources to form nitrosamine. This is the suspected cancer-forming agent. Nitrosamines have been found only in cooked bacon, not fresh bacon.

But is cooked bacon really a problem?

The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) has conducted a series of tests. They found that nitrosamine levels in cooked bacon or drippings revealed levels ranging from 7 to 28 parts per billion (ppb.).

Assume that average cooked bacon contains 17 ppb of nitrosamine. German researchers recently called nitrite-treated meat a "serious risk." With only 17 ppb of the chemical (you) would have to eat more than 25,000lb. of cooked bacon per day. And 70% of the weight of bacon is lost during cooking.

CRUMP'S GRASS ROOTS COMMENT

Bacon and eggs will continue to be the All-American breakfast. And the FDA will continue to test methods of curing pork. Nitrates; Nitrites; Nitrosamines, will only be chemical terms to the consumer as he or she rush off to work

OLD PHILOSOPHER

Dear editor:

A friend brought me a newspaper yesterday saying he hoped it would help speed my recuperation from my recent illness, and I can now report, without the aid of X-rays and a battery of laboratory tests, that I am just about cured. Any time you can read the front page of a paper these days and not have a relapse you're bound to be hale and hearty, makes no difference what it was you were ailing from.

Anyway, what caught my attention was an article about two New York banks, classified as the second and third largest in the country. Although the two are in sound financial shape and are making satisfactory profits, still they have two or three hundred million dollars out in questionable loans -- loans they're going to have real trouble collecting, in fact may have to write off as losses. In short, as the headline over the article said, they're shaky loans.

Now this kind of news disturbs some people, but that's because they have no imagination and can't see the possibility of the situation. Now me, I think every bank ought to have a Shaky Loan Department.

A man who has all the collateral he needs can go into a bank and get a loan any time he wants one, but with others it's a different story. Think how nice it'd be if you could walk into a bank, go right past the regular officers, and ask to be directed to the Shaky Loan office.

If you hear of any bank around here getting up on the New York level and opening a Shaky Loan Department, let me know immediately so I can get there before the line extends out the door and around the block.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Veterans Land Program May Reopen Soon

The Texas Veterans Land Program, temporarily shut down December 31, may re-open soon.

A meeting of the Veterans Land Board has been scheduled February 11 to review the bond market for a possible bond sale.

Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong said financial advisors report interest rates are beginning to come down slowly and that favorable rates may be obtainable in March.

Armstrong also claimed the temporary halt in the program may have helped stem inflation of land prices.

"Our chief appraiser tells me that land prices are settling down in every area of the state except in the Houston vicinity," said Armstrong. "This means the delay may actually benefit those veterans who intend to make land purchases under the program in the future."

A total of 1,771 applications for loans were received in the last two weeks of December. Land Office staff members are trying to process more than 4,700 completed applications before the Veterans Land Program is reopened.

$2 Billion Topped

Oil and gas income to the Permanent School and Permanent University Funds now tops $2 billion.

Land Commissioner Armstrong said deposits reached $2,003,638,403 with the aid of $24.7 million in new income from settlements of "in-kind" gas pricing lawsuits.

The suits forced some gas producers to pay the state current market value for gas royalty from production on state lands.

Armstrong said the Permanent School Fund totals $1.23 billion and the University Fund $772.3 million. Both funds received $16.3 million in royalty payments for the month of December alone. Of the latter, nearly $2.5 million came from settlements between the state and 18 gas producers. Twenty-seven lawsuits have been filed by the attorney general against major gas producers on state lands.

Parts Rates Up

Insurance Board Chairman Joe Christie charged Detroit automakers with pushing up prices on auto parts to make up for declining new car sales.

Christie told a traffic safety conference here parts prices jumped 32 per cent in a single year.

The board chairman advised that safe driving is still the best way to hold down the cost of auto ownership, including insurance premiums.

Crime Program Pledged

Gov. Dolph Briscoe has pledged to offer far-reaching recommendations to the next legislature for curbing crime.

A new report by the Governor's Executive Committee on Criminal Justice Standards and Goals already has proposed ambitious objectives for the Texas criminal justice system.

Briscoe said his program will seek to restrain repeat offenders, including those who commit a crime while on bail. The governor said he thinks there should be a procedure for denial of bail. And he said the death penalty has served as a deterrent to crime.

Courts Speak

Texas Supreme Court took under study a Gonzales case involving whether so-called "front-end loan fees" on real estate loans are in fact additional interest.

Court of Criminal Appeals reversed the conviction resulting from the third trial of a Bowie County man on a robbery by firearms charge.

The Supreme Court stuck by its finding of last month that the governor overstepped constitutional authority in vetoeing more then 130 college building projects in June 1975.

Third Court of Civil Appeals upheld a trial court finding that a mother gave up her parental rights to her nine-year-old son by a divorce agreement

Court of Criminal Appeals reversed a mother's murder conviction in the fatal death of a two-month-old daughter on grounds of insufficient evidence.

AG Opinions

Payment of one-half of accumulated sick leave on termination of state employment is applicable to higher education institutions, Atty. Gen. John Hill held.

In other recent opinions, Hill concluded:

Independent school districts not holding elections for their district trustees on the day set for county school trustee elections (in counties over 500,000) must hold county trustee elections.

A justice of the peace with an unexpired term of more than a year automatically resigns on announcing candidacy for water district director.

Military service should be credited in judicial retirement computation.

Physical therapy license applicants must pay prescribed examination fees.

Industries Increase

Twenty-two new industries with an annual economic impact of nearly $16.5 million and payrolls of 383 registered in Texas during December.

The increase was the largest for a single month in more than two years.

Jim Harwell, executive director of Texas Industrial Commission, said the industries will generate an additional 291 jobs.

Harwell said the increase had been expected, due to the upswing in the number of inquiries to the commission on the Texas economic climate.

Short Snorts

Texas farmers are expected to plant 1.35 million acres in corn — a 13 per cent increase over 1975. Projected upland cotton acreage is up 10 per cent, to 4.8 million acreas.

Jon P. Newton of Beeville entered the Texas Railroad Commission race. There are now four Democratic candidates and one Republican.

State representative filing deadlines have been increased in 15 districts — in Fort Worth, Port Arthur and Corpus Christi pending a ruling on a redistricting bill.

Texas Utilities Commission set hearings starting in mid-February on territorial claims for service.

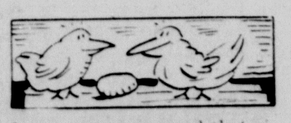
Gov. Briscoe has recommended mandatory license suspension for drunk driving convictions.

Disabled To Benefit From Agreement

The Veterans Administration and the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare have agreed on new principles expanding services for the disabled and their dependents.

A joint statement between the VA and HEW's Rehabilitation Services Administration (RSA) was signed by officials of both agencies. In attendance were VA's Dr. John D. Chase, chief medical director; Rufus H. Wilson, chief benefits director; and Dr. Andrew S. Adams, RSA commissioner.

Each agency encourages the disabled to make maximum use of vocational rehabilitation services offered by state and federal governments. The agreement calls for increased coordination in medical rehabilitation research, vocational rehabilitation of the handicapped, use of special facilities, job placement and employer relationships.



It was once supposed that pigeons always sat on two eggs which produced a male and a female, and that these twin birds would live together in love the rest of their lives.

A Weekly Report Of Agri-Business News

Farm-facts

Compiled From Sources
Of The Texas Department of Agriculture
John C. White, Commissioner

About Half Of Normal . . . Crying Time? . . . April 15 Important To Agriculture . . . Exports Significant For Livestock.

Take a look at the rainfall totals for various crop reporting districts in Texas and you can understand why many of the state's farmers are worried about lack of moisture.

More than half of the crop reporting districts report rainfall at half of normal for the last three months of 1975. And according to statistics for the first half of January in the state, only the east Texas area has had as much as a half inch.

Only the southern half of the Low Plains and the Upper Coastal Bend section of the state reported above normal rainfall during the late fall and winter months. The far west Texas area had only a third of normal rain during that period.

Due to lack of rain, wheat on the High and Low Plains is furnishing very little grazing with the exception of irrigated stands. Oats are also at a standstill in many areas of the state due to lack of rain.

THIS MIGHT BRING TEARS TO YOUR EYES later this year. The Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service notes that the state's spring onion crop is estimated at 23,500 acres. This would be 38 per cent larger than the 1975 harvest and the largest projected acreage since 1964.

If good weather prevails now and through February, harvest of early fields can begin by mid-February and general harvest will be underway in early March.

APRIL 15 IS INCOME TAX DEADLINE for most Texans, and it also is important for agriculture producers. That is the date of the next prospective plantings report. Survey information for the report will be gathered around April 1, which will permit producers to report their plans just prior to the major planting period for spring crops.

It will contain information for corn, sorghum, cotton, oats, barley, soybeans, wheat, rice, peanuts and other crops.

LIVESTOCK EXPORTS FROM TEXAS continue to set new records. During 1975, a total of 25,417 head of livestock were shipped from Texas.

The Texas Department of Agriculture is in charge of the six quarantine and inspection pens from which the livestock are shipped.

Cattle were at the top of the list, followed by dairy animals. Beef breeds purchased by foreign buyers were Angus, Beefmaster, Brahman, Brangus, Charolais, Chianina, Hereford, Santa Gertrudis and Simmental. Brahmans led the total with 1,130.

Mexico was the major importer. Other countries involved in the export marketing venture during 1975 included Nicaragua, British Honduras, Bolivia, El Salvador, Panama, Brazil, Venezuela, Ecuador, Guatemala, and Argentina.

In addition to beef and dairy cattle, other kinds of livestock exported were hogs, sheep, dairy goats, and horses.

Cotton production in Texas during 1975 will be remembered as one of the lowest in recent history. The crop of 2,400,000 bales is the smallest since 1946. The turn-out compares with 2,462,000 bales in 1974, a year which was plagued by drought.

Both reduction in acres plus a freak weather condition on the High Plains were responsible for the 1975 poor production record. Acres harvested were 4,000,000, down 10 per cent from a year ago. Yield is expected to average 288 pounds per acre, which is only a slight improvement over 1974.

Meanwhile, cotton planting for the 1976 season gets underway officially on Feb. 1 in the Rio Grande Valley. The economic outlook for cotton this year is believed by most economists to be greatly improved over 1975.

IN APPRECIATION--A check for $75 is presented by Bill Arthur, right, to Joe Biskup of the Buckholts fire department for work at the fire which destroyed the Farmers Gin burr truck. A check for $75, is presented to fire departments all over Texas when they are called to a fire in rural areas and the property is insured by the Farm Bureau companies.

RALEIGH

Last year, specialists in the textile research and development division here sensed a developing trend among mills and garment manufacturers toward higher quality knit fabrics; so they purchased a new fine-cut double knit machine to begin experimental work.

Today, market research data show that the trend has caught on.

To prepare for the growing market, the Cotton Incorporated researchers have now traded in two old knitting machines for another new double knit machine and a single knit machine that can knit fine gauge patterned fabrics.

They just beat the rush. The equipment is now out of stock, and equipment manufacturers have been forced to back - order for mills which are just now catching on to the swing toward finely knit clothes.

While industry waits, Cotton Incorporated, the fiber company of U. S. cotton producers, is using its equipment to perfect fashionable, new cotton clothing with the tighter fabric construction.

The textile experts at Cotton Incorporated's research center here are using the two machines to develop fine men's and women's fabrics for suits, pants, skirts, dresses and blouses.

The new cotton fabrics are smooth and neat in appearance, and they are less likely to pick and snag than polyester double knit fabrics, explains Hal E. Brockmann, Cotton Incorporated vice president of textile research and development.

Most mass-marketed double knit fabrics are constructed using 18 needles per inch; the new fabrics are made with 28 needles per inch, he explains.

"There is a strong movement in the market toward greater production of these denser knit fabrics, and we want to be sure cotton secures a place at the head of that movement," Brockmann says.

"Cotton, because of its inherent qualities, is ideal for these more luxurious - feeling fabrics. Our job is to prove that the fabrics can be easily and economically constructed with cotton. With these two machines we should be able to stay ahead of the game."

One machine, a 28 - cut Terrot double knit machine, will be used to develop men's shirtings, suits and slacks. With it, cotton researchers [illegible] finely knit "Natural Blend" fabrics. "Natural Blend" is a trademark owned by Cotton Incorporated for fabrics which contain 60 per cent or more cotton and which are permanent press.

The second machine, a Monarch jersey knit machine, will be used to develop fabrics for dress shirts, children's wear, dresses, print fabrics, and men's casual shirts.

Naman Defends Value Of ACP Program

Texas Farmers Union President Jay Naman of Waco has termed Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz's denunciation of the Agricultural Conservation Program as a malicious attempt to raise doubts in the public's mind as to the real value of the program.

Butz, speaking recently in Iowa, had labeled the ACP program "the rural Congressman's pork barrel. . . nine-tenths of this is a waste of money."

The Texas farm leader pointed out that the Administration had lost in its attempt to cut the program budget in half this year when Congress denied the Administration's request to defer $90 million of the program contained in the fiscal 1976 appropriations act for the USDA.

Naman said that the $14.78 million earmarked for Texas this year will be used by farmers and ranchers for long-range conservation programs including erosion control structures, water impoundment, vegetative planting, irrigation projects, and other permanent conservation measures.

Naman noted that most of the money allocated through ACP will be matched equally by farmers and ranchers carrying out conservation programs covered under the Act.

According to ASCS spokesman, Texas usually receives approximately 8 to 10 percent of the total national allocation.

"Not only are these projects beneficial to farmers and ranchers, they are environmentally sound. Such projects prevent soil erosion, water pollution, and keep our air free of blowing dust, all of which are of benefit to all our citizens," Naman said.

Naman continued, "This action by the Secretary to undermine and destroy a time-tested and important program for farmers and ranchers again shows that he has no practical knowledge of the farm situation and is only trying to demagogue a worthwhile program to death."

The Farmers Union president pointed out that in 1973, when the program was not in effect, conservation projects carried out by farmers and ranchers were substantially reduced. "Many of the projects carried out under the ACP program are very expensive and the only way they can be completed is by matching funds with the farmers own investment," Naman said.

Youth Add Funds For Junior Show

Five youths sold $768 worth of chances on the butcher calf given away at the Milam County Junior Livestock Show. The calf was donated by Milam Grain Company of Cameron/Bob Clark and Ferroll Angell and Cameron Livestock Auction.

The topseller was James Pounders of Rockdale FFA who sold $206 worth of chances. He received a 12 gauge shot gun donated by Wied Hardware, Bubba Wied of Cameron.

The other top sellers were Steven Beasley of Thorndale 4-H $158; Dale Westbrook of Rockdale 4-H, $143; Rebecca Riola of Cameron 4-H, 4136; and Kenney Patin of Thorndale 4-H, $125.

The paper money we use today developed from a custom that began in England during the 1600's according to World Book Encyclopedia.

Ticks Should Be Controlled

Cattle producers in Williamson and Milam Counties have been concerned with ear tick parasites of cattle. These ticks which attack deep within the ears of livestock cause severe irritation and restlessness in cattle.

This particular tick is referred to as a one host tick which means that the tick spends its entire life cycle on the same animal except when the female leaves the animal to mate and lay eggs. Females lay from 800 to 1,000 eggs in their life cycle. Usually, the female will drop off of the animal in an area that is cool and has a high humidity.

For control of the Spinose ear tick on beef animals and nonlactating dairy animals gently clean ears of wax, tick excrement and other debris before treating. The following insecticides are effective in controlling the ear tick:

5% Coumaphos (dust)
3.5% Lindane (aerosol)
0.5% Malathion spray
2.5% Ronnel aerosol or 5% Ronnel smear
2.0% Toxaphene liquid or smear

In addition, kerosene can be sprayed around water troughs and other cool moist places where animals congregate. This will kill a certain percentage of eggs that have been layed on the ground.

For treatment of ear ticks on lactating dairy cattle 5% Coumaphos (dust), 5% Ronnel (smear) or 2.5% Ronnel (aerosol) should be used.

Sorghum For Swine Won't Top Corn

Efficienty of sorghum grain swine rations has come a long way in the past two decades, but it is still just a little less than that for corn, recent Texas Agricultural Experiment Station trials show.

However, data indicate carcasses from sorghum fed hogs are equal to those fed corn in pork yield, finish, lead-to-fat ration, quality, and firmness, according to Dr. T. D. Tanksley Jr., swine researcher.

The investigations are part of a major thrust by the Experiment Station to improve nutritional value of sorghum for swine.

Correction

In last week's Cameron Herald, A. Tim Stewart, of the Stockyard Steakhouse in Milano, was incorrectly identified as a Mr. Russell in the buyer's picture. County Agent Bill McCutchen said he wanted to correct this as his assistance with the junior livestock show and the barbecue at the Cow-Calf Clinic was appreciated.

LARRY MAHAN: WORLD'S CHAMPION
ALL-AROUND COWBOY

Conlee's Top Hand was the Number One Yielder in nine Texas official experimental stations.

A free sack of Conlee's TOP HAND grain sorghum seed. And a good Buck Knife to open it with. That's my offer.

Larry Mahan

That's my offer. I'm Larry Mahan. I've misjudged a lot of broncs in my time but there's one thing I'm sure of...

When it comes to making you a bundle of profit, Conlee's Top Hand grain sorghum is "a cut above the rest"

Top Hand is a yellow endosperm, medium to early maturing hybrid. It's disease and dreuth tolerant, and it comes on strong with irrigation.

Top Hand produces big, high quality heads that dry fast, thresh clean. And it really stays with the Texas weather 'cause it has an extra large root system that's stout as a bull.

Plant Top Hand this season. Convince yourself it'll out perform all the rest. See your seed dealer about my offer right away. A free sack of Conlee Top Hand . . . and a $13.00 Buck Muskrat Knife any man would be proud to carry.

See your dealer or call
Conlee Seed, Texas Toll Free 800-792-2215

HERE IS WHAT SOME TOP CENTRAL TEXAS MILO GROWERS SAY:

IRA BELL, JR.—BASTROP
I planted Top Hand row and broadcast for the 1975 crop year. Row yielded 4000 lbs. and broadcast 3500 lbs. I've planted Top Hand for 6 years and will plant all of my acreage in it again for 1976.
The combiners say it thrashed real good and cleaned out mighty good. I would recommend it.

E.C. BOECKER—BUCKHOLTS
Top Hand yields as well or better than any other hybrid I've planted and it is consistant year in and year out.

FRED RICHTER—THRALL
I like Top Hand because it is consistant. It's about the highest yielding hybrid we have found for year after year production.
In 1975 we got a good stand the first time we planted, and several of my neighbors had to replant their competitive hybrids.
IN A WORD—IT'S DEPENDABLE.

MARVIN LENZ—TAYLOR
I plant Top Hand because year in and year out it has been one of the highest producing hybrids I have found. I like the short, sturdy stalks, and excellent root system.
After all—a top yield is great but it has to be in the elevator before you can cash it in.

MELBOURNE

The secret of the discovery of Australia may be buried, literally, under the sands of time. An expedition headed by the country's National Trust has been drilling in sand dunes near the city of Warrnambool in western Victoria for what it believes are the remains of a 450 year old Portuguese ship. Theory is that Portuguese sailed the coast of eastern Australia 250 years before Captain Cook.

TEL AVIV

The world fuel crisis has revived an imaginative plan to provide Israel with water and electric power from a 50-mile tunnel linking the Mediterranean with the Dead Sea-Lowest point on the earth's surface. The idea for using the difference in elevation between the Med and the Dead Sea, 1,280 feet below sea level for hydro-electric power is not completely new but it was rejected earlier because of high costs.

BUENOS AIRES

President Maria Estela Peron of Argentina is grimly clinging to power despite mounting pressure to step down before the country is plunged into political and economic chaos. A Roman Catholic church leader has joined military, labor, opposition and even Peronist leaders in demanding the 44-year old widow president leave the reins of power in more competent hands.

SYDNEY

One of the many great traditions of the Australian Outback is being revived--not because of nostalgia but out of economic necessity. The legendary cattle drovers of Australia's history are getting out their 12-foot long bullwhips, cleaning billy cans for brewing thick black tea, and saddling horses again as ranchers struggle to save their herds. The grim realities of international trade and recession combined with drought, has brought the wheel full circle across the country's vast inland pastures.

ROME

The Italian Socialist Party's decision to bring down the country's 37th post-Fascist government by withdrawing its support of the coalition administration can be seen as a direct result of dramatic communist gains in regional and local elections less than a year ago. Those gains increased the likelihood of the much smaller Socialist Party being elbowed off the political stage.

MOSCOW

Tens of thousands of Russians began the new year with a brand new passport--although they still cannot use them to leave the country. The small red books, presented at special ceremonies with press coverage, are part of a five-year program to issue a new domestic passport to everyone in the Soviet Union over 16.

Oedipus The King To Show At MH-B In Feb.

Sophocles' Oedipus The King will be the play offering for Mary Hardin-Baylor College Charter Day celebration, presented by the Delta Kappa cast of Alpha Psi Omega.

Production dates will be Feb. 5, 6, 12 , 13, 14 in Mabee Student Center Auditorium.

"We like to try special things for Charter Day, and this surely rates as 'special' being perhaps the finest of all tragedy," said Charles G. Taylor, director of the theater.

Oedipus the King is the play upon which many psychological and psychiatric theories have been based, specifically the many variations of Sigmund Freud.

"The so-called 'Oedipus Complex' is a term whith which many people are familiar," says Taylor, "even if they don't have an in-depth knowledge of all its facets, I should think that audiences might be interested in 'the source,' which is this play."

The single setting of the play will reflect the time of the peak of classic Greek theatre and the costumes will be in the same time suggestion. The actors will appear in masks denotative of the essence of their characters.

Yoe Whips Hornets, Continue District Lead

Everyone on the Yoemen bench had a hand in the whipping of the Caldwell Hornets Friday night as the Yoemen continue to roll over all district 23AA rivals. The Yoemen K. Oed Caldwell 90-65.

Murray-go-Round

By Tom Murray

HERE AND THERE:

Lou Maysel, the astute Austin American sports editor, hit the nail in pluperfect center, picking Oklahoma U. "Second" in a mythical National Championship Poll, saying "No team in college football played well enough to be National Champion." Amen.

Now, Maysel went on to say that Oklahoma almost certainly did have the best collegiate football meat-on-the-hoof in 1975. Again, Amen. But, as Lou says, Barry Switzer's awesome Sooners rarely played anywhere near their potential, as a team.

With all that material, Switzer should be ashamed that his so-called Big Red did not completely blow away all 12 opponents. Oklahoma had to have 10 gift points to subdue inexperienced, crippled, and undermanned Texas, 24-17. Ragtag Miami turned 'em everway but loose. Colorado, the team Texas whipped 38-21 in the Bluebonnet, blew a point-after to take a 21-20 defeat by the Sooners, at Norman.

Missouri ran all over 'em before losing 27-26 and of course, Kansas--mightily, muscled Kansas--beat 'em 23-3. Then, Michigan, tied by SWC Patsy Baylor and by Pac-8 Lily Stanford, and defeated by Oafish Ohio State, made the Sooners eat frustration in the Orange Bowl. With no quarterback, Bo Shembechler's weak Wolverines still manhandled the Superior Sooners all night before dropping out 14-6.

QUICKIES:

What happened to the Texas Aggies? Emory Bellard had no quarterback, period. Had Texas had its own, All-American Marty Akins. Darrel Royal's Texas U. Would probably have defeated the Aggies. But, Bellard, Aggies everwhere, and much of the Media, minimized the loss of Akins to brag about A&Ms historic victory over UT. Then, the Aggies--suffering a false sense of importance--blindly walked into a couple of shellackings by Arkansas and USC. . .Want to know how close UT came to winning a fourth National Championship?

SPORT SPOTLIGHT

TENNIS ANYONE. . .

That seems to be the question a lot of Cameronites are beginning to ask. It's about time.

Tennis is the fastest growing sport in America and its longevity to the player makes it an attractive sport to all ages.

Just take time to drive by the city park and see how many people are playing these days. Some criticism has grown over the building of the new courts but an observer will see just how many interested people there are in tennis.

All courts--city and high school--seem to keep full and consideration of added courts would be a wise idea with summer approaching.

With the added cost of many athletic and recreational programs the tennis player seems to be the least affected. Just a racket and the tennis balls and you're ready to go.

Go by and check out how many people are playing.

A&M. . .

At the first signs of wrong doing the wires were loaded with the scoop from College Station concerning the raid of a house that housed a few athletes from A&M.

Everyone was quick to blast the news but there surely hasn't been much said since.

The incident was handled by local police and campus officers. And to date there has been little more said than was first reported.

At the problem, head basketball coach said that his players that were in the residence promised that they had not been involved in smoking the marijuana.

Since the problem the Aggies lost a game in Arkansas. Well, who knows. . .

DISTRICT STANDINGS. . .

Cameron 8-0
Hearne 6-2
Elgin 5-3
Westlake 4-4
Leander 4-4
Rosebud-Lott 3-5
Manor 1-7
Caldwell 1-7

These standings are through the week of Jan. 23.

POOLE SAID. . .

"Against Hearne we had a pretty good game. We went in at half behind. Our press didn't work and because of our poor shooting we didn't generate much offense.

"We got out of the press and went to a man-to-man defense. We had 12 uncontested points and extended the lead by 20 at one time.

"It was a good effort in that we were able to come from behind and get the win. We ended up beating them 67-54.

"Against Caldwell we had the best first half of any game in district. It's hard to get ready to play a team that was 1-6.

"Everyone played before the half and we were winning 54-25. In the second half we did a good job. The post man scored 44 points and that is way too many.

"Ronnie Bennett was in foul trouble in the 1st quarter. He had 3. Jafus White tied a school record by pumping in 39 points.

"We beat them 90-65. Everyone got to play and played quite a bit. I was real pleased. The only thing was defensing their post man. But overall it was a great game."

PUCKETT SAID. . .

"Monday night in Lexington we looked real good. Our guards played the best game they ever have.

"In the JV game we had a slow start and it kept us from winning but we came back and did a great job the other three quarters.

Against Elgin Thursday we won but we didn't do anything superior. They weren't aggressive but it was a good victory.

"Monday night against Giddings the JV forwards played extremely hard. They didn't give up and they tried to come back in the 4th quarter.

"We play Giddings here Thursday night and then we will play in the Lexington Tournament, Feb. 6-7. Our first game will be against Snook."

The Lonely Heart

"These are the sorghums I'd plant if I farmed in this area."

Jim Higdon
AGRONOMY SERVICE DIRECTOR

"Drouth, disease, insects, wind storms . . . taking everything into account that can plague a crop in this area, these are the sorghums I'd go with."

It's my job to know which are the best varieties for each locale in the states of Oklahoma, Texas and New Mexico. For the last five years I've had Crop Information Centers, Standard Comparison Tests and Uniform Strip Tests in this immediate area. In these carefully controlled tests, I've evaluated most of the sorghum varieties a farmer might consider planting. I've had the same headaches and frustrations you've had. My plantings have suffered the same weather conditions, epidemics and infestations yours have.

Based on these tests, there is no doubt in my mind what I'd plant in 1976 if I farmed hereabouts.

James Matthew Higdon is a professional agronomist with 16 years of intensive experience in growing hybrid corn and sorghum in the Southwest. His full time responsibility is to consult with farmers about their grains and silage growing problems.

8311

8311 is a champion producer of high test weight, yellow endosperm grain. Pioneer introduced this golden bronze hybrid three years ago and it's been setting yield records in this area ever since. One reason is its ability to yield in the face of too wet or too dry weather, insects or disease. Another reason for the high yields is that 8311 tends to adjust its maturity to the growing season in a particular area. Whatever else you plant . . . put in some 8311.

846

"Old faithful" is the best name for this Pioneer variety. It has been producing profitable sorghum yields for farmers in this area for many, many years. Though medium maturity, it produces with full-season varieties in good years and still does well under stress. It resists drouth, smut, rust, MDMV and tolerates secondary downy mildew infestation. It makes a good planting partner.

Performance of seeds or the crop produced therefrom may be adversely affected by factors beyond our control including environmental conditions, insects and diseases. The limitation of warranty and remedy attached to each bag of Pioneer brand seed is a part of the terms and conditions of the sale thereof.

Reducing plan for energy users

Plan F
How to save when using electric heating

1. Keep heating equipment at top operating efficiency. Have it checked seasonally by qualified serviceman.
2. Set thermostat at 68° and leave it. Lower to 50° 60° if you'll be away several days.
3. Weatherstrip doors and windows; caulk cracks to prevent drafts and warm air loss.
4. Check the filter every 30 days on forced-air systems. If filter is permanent, clean it by manufacturer's directions; if it's disposable, replace if dirty.
5. Thorough home insulation keeps the warmth in. Can cut energy use 20% or more. Can pay for itself by lowering heating (and cooling) costs.
6. When fireplace is not in use, keep damper closed.
7. On sunny days open draperies, blinds to let in warmth of sun.
8. Open outside doors as little as possible.
9. Keep furniture, draperies away from air outlets and returns so air will flow easily. Clean annually.

Texas Baptists Are Challenged

FORT WORTH

Texas Baptists have been challenged to win an additional two million Texans to Christ by 1980 with the aid of an extensive mass media camapgin.

Dr. James H. Landes, executive director of the 2.2 million member Baptist General Convention of Texas, issued the challenge in an urgent call to celebrate the nation's Bicentennial with a spiritual revolution.

Speaking to thousands of church leaders in Fort Worth at the annual Texas Baptist Evangelism Conference, Dr. Landes said two million Texans must be won to Christ by 1980 to keep pace with the exploding population.

Landes predicted that current trends indicate some 5.2 million people in Texas in 1980 will have no church affiliation.

A major part of the effort, said Landes, will be an intensive mass media campaign during 1977.

"I would like to see us, for the rest of the year, preparing to use all available means of mass media," said Landes.

"Together we will move toward a great experience next year that will let every person -- broken, beaten, downtrodden -- know that somebody cares."

Other speakers at the three-day Evangelism Conference called for a return to spiritual values if this country is to be resurrected from moral and spiritual death.

The meeting drew 12,000 pastors and laypersons to Tarrant County Convention Center from around Texas and from surrounding states.

We all know the shock of losing something we value. A misplaced book or valuable papers — even a treasured heirloom — gone astray can frustrate us for hours or even days. Diligent search often ends the mystery, but the memory of our exasperation lingers.

Yet while the loss of something material is easily grasped, many of us never realize that we may be missing important intangibles . . . like the secret of a richer, more satisfying life.

This search needn't take long, though. Millions find the faith that fulfills — every Sunday in church.

So can you.
